International Graduate Employee Accounting and Legal Assistance Fund

DUE: November 1st annually for the prior academic year

GSOC administers a fund for accounting and legal assistance that international graduate employees incur due to their status as international student workers. The fund is $15,000 for the academic year 2023-2024 and is apportioned based upon the number of eligible applicants and the amounts requested. Please note: Sprintax and other basic tax application services are not eligible for this fund. This fund is specifically meant for additional tax preparation expenses incurred due to a student worker's status as such – beyond basic tax preparation that all taxpayers must complete.

The subsidy is available to those graduate student employees who meet both eligibility criteria:

- Held a GSOC-UAW Local 2110 bargaining unit position during the academic year Fall 2023 – Spring 2024.
- Is an international graduate student at NYU.

To apply, please fill out this form and attach:

1. A copy of your appointment letter for one semester of work in a bargaining unit position during the academic year Fall 2023 – Spring 2024;
2. A copy of a bill for the accounting or legal services you sought during the academic year 2023-2024; and
3. The attached affidavit, signed and notarized, proving your international graduate employee status.

Please be sure to keep the original of any materials you submit. Return the completed application by email to gsoc@2110uaw.org.
